

A Valuable Resource for Your Community

When it's time for new residents to move to your community, the transition from independent living is complicated. Necessary tasks like staging a home for quick sale and scheduling repairs can feel overwhelming to a family already navigating this significant life change.

We understand these unique challenges and how to ease the burden of selling a family home to make a resident's move easier. By partnering with us, you are extending the compassionate care you already provide; you are giving residents and families an expert resource so they can focus on getting mom and dad settled into your community.

The Jeff Lottmann Group is the compassionate partner you can trust. Here's why:

Quarterly Resident Activity Sponsorships

Each quarter, The Jeff Lottmann Group will sponsor an event or activity for residents, such as an ice cream social or movie night. The activity type will be selected collaboratively with your team, and The Jeff Lottmann Group will cover the cost.

Twice a Year Lunch & Learn Seminars for Resident Families

The Jeff Lottmann Group will host a seminar for residents and their families at your community. It will cover topics related to this significant life change, from selling a home as part of the transition to dealing with parents who are resistant. The Jeff Lottmann Group will deliver, or bring in experts to deliver, the talk and answer questions.

Personal Knowledge and Expertise

In addition to helping many clients navigate this life change, Jeff Lottmann also has personal experience with his mother's transition from independent to community living. This combination of personal experience and industry expertise gives our team a full emotional and practical picture.
